

HP G7 Microserver

The Microservers are small, low power (mine uses 23W at idle) servers with 4 hotswap disk trays. They're pretty cheap (£200), and currently have a £100 cashback offer available.

Kimball and I were discussing at the weekend getting one for the space, for general file storage (datasheets, software, debian / ubuntu proxy), running some of the stuff that's currently sat on alfred, a camera proxy, a thin client server and ldap server for spacenet.
